

Elaine Hinchman is a native of North Carolina and a resident of Greenville NC. She is a self-taught artist that started painting at a young age and creates daily. Elaine is not afraid to try something new and is constantly exploring new mediums for fun. She has multiple areas around her home set up for all her art projects and can spend hours lost in a creation.

Her chosen mediums are watercolor and acrylic. Elaine expresses detail in her watercolor and creates commissions of homes and special places for others in a realistic style. She also enjoys the freedom of abstract painting because she is able to use her imagination to let the colors flow and blend together. Textured paintings are her favorite because they add interest and depth to the painting.

Elaine enjoys sharing her love of art with her 5 grandchildren. While spending time with them, you can often find them side by side working on art projects. Elaine encourages them to become an artist in whatever medium they choose. She says it is messy but fun!
